

CONSERVATION HILL & RHYLL INLET WALKS

Rhyll Inlet is a world renowned habitat for migratory waders and resident birds, and its tranquil mangroves and wetlands are listed under the Ramsar Convention as having international importance. Along the walks you'll find an array of boardwalks that loop through the mangroves, saltmarsh and mudflats. You may even be treated to the presence of spoonbills, oyster catchers, herons, egrets and cormorants.

Access for:

From: Conservation Hill Reserve, Cowes-Rhyll Road

To: Beach Road, Rhyll

Length: Mangrove Boardwalk – 1.2km / 25 minutes (return)
McIlwraith Road Lookout – 4.5km / 1 hour (return)
Rhyll Village – 7km / 2.5 hours (return)

Facilities: Accommodation, parking, food, drink, toilets and picnic amenities are available as per map.

Surface: Level 1 - 2. Easy to moderate. Compacted granitic sand, boardwalk, grass.

